3rd April 2020

Dear Class 2LR,

I hope that you are all ok and have settled into your new way of learning. It is strange isn't it? Remembering what our daily timetable was like in school might help you - it does me. We always started with some Maths, then we read before doing some writing and spellings. Maybe it would help you to stick to this routine at home. If you haven't already, you should try joining in with the Joe Wicks daily P.E session. It's great. I have been doing it both at school and with my own children at home; it really wakes me up and makes me feel positive about the day ahead. Give it a go, just search for it on You Tube.

I think about you all every day, especially when I log on to my computer to read your Purple Mash work. Well done to all of you who have completed the tasks that I have set. I especially enjoyed reading your book reviews because I was then able to find the book online and share it. I really liked the book that Dharam recommended. It was called Smiley Shark and the Great Big Hiccup. It reminded me of our class because it was all about friendship and looking after each other. Shark's friends made him feel happy at a time when he was sad and managed to cure his hiccups too. I love writing comments when you complete your work. I check it every day and will always write a message to you and give you a stamp. I am going to start putting some pieces of work on the display board so that we can all celebrate the work that our friends have done. Make sure that you have a look!

Although it is really important that you do some Maths and English work every day, plus any Science, History and Geography that has been set it is important to remember that next week is the beginning of the Easter holidays and a time when you should enjoy relaxing with your family. Please spend lots of time playing games, going for a daily walk and watching fantastic films. I watched the Disney film Brother Bear last week and I would really recommend it. It has the themes of friendship, determination and love running through it and it made me feel all warm inside.

Enjoy all the signs of spring that are beginning to bloom in the world around us, the lighter evenings, the birds singing and the colourful flowers that are shooting up. It is one of my favourite times of the year and makes me feel thankful for all that we have.

I will write to you all again soon and would love it if you could write a letter back to me telling me all about your Easter holidays. You can post it to school.

See you all soon,

Mrs Robinson
