Dear Class 3CH,

I hope that you are all ok and are getting used to your new way of learning. It's very strange isn't it? I know you will all be missing coming to school as much as I am missing teaching you! It might be helpful to try and stick to our school timetable. You could start off with some maths, then some reading, spelling and writing. You don't have to work for the same length of time as we do in school, but having some sort of daily routine could be helpful. If you haven't already, you should try joining in with the Joe Wicks daily P.E session. It's a great way to wake up and start the day positively- I have been doing it most days either at school or at home! Give it a go, just search for it on YouTube.

I have really enjoyed seeing your work on Purple Mash and talking to you all on the blog. I can tell how much effort and thought you are putting into your home learning and it makes me especially proud to think you are all working independently. Please keep up the good work with that as I enjoy writing nice comments when it is handed in. I also love hearing what you have been up to at home, so please continue to post in the blog as well. You can also upload pictures of any exciting things you have been up to!

During term time, it is really important that you do some maths and English work every day, plus any science, history and geography that has been set. However, next week is the beginning of the Easter holidays and a time when you should enjoy relaxing with your family. Here is some 'homework' for the next couple of weeks:

- Read a book or watch a film you love. (I strongly recommend Harry Potter!)
- Play some games or do a jigsaw puzzle with your family.
- Eat your Easter eggs and set up an egg hunt round your house and garden!
- Do some cooking or baking.
- Go for a lovely walk or bike ride.

Enjoy all the signs of spring that are beginning to bloom in the world around us, the lighter evenings, the birds singing and the colourful flowers that are shooting up. It is a lovely time of year, which always makes me feel warm and positive about the future, and I hope it does for you too.

Keep checking the blog on Purple Mash, and it would be great if you could post a message on there, telling us all about the nice things you are doing over Easter.

I hope to see you all soon. I think about you all every day and really hope you are all staying positive and happy.
