As we have read Charlotte's Web (and loved it!) and have produced our own alternative ending for the Egyptian Cinderella... Can you write your own ending for Charlotte's Web?

Can you create your own picture of Fountains Abbey - if you can, you could visit there!

Last half term, we learnt about 'unit fractions'. Using things you can find in your house, can you demonstrate how to find fractions of an amount to someone you live with?

Have a look at the national dishes of China or India, as we are looking at these countries in our next geography topic.

Create your own fitness circuit to keep you fit.

In English, we are writing a setting description in the summer and in the winter. Look out of the window, can you describe what you might see in the summer or in the winter?

Spend a morning / evening technology free. Make a list of all the things you did during the time without the use of electronics.

Go on a walk in your local area. Make a list of all the plants you see in the season of Spring into Summer. You could sketch out your findings like a true botanist.

Read a book you have never read before. Make a book review for your friends to read summarising the story and whether you liked it or not.
